

SALT LAKE DAILY HERALD

SATURDAY MORNING, NOV. 6, 1880.

THE DAILY HERALD is published every morning, Monday excepted, at the office of the publisher, 121 East Temple Street, Salt Lake City, by the Herald Printing and Publishing Company. Subscription price $10.00 per annum, postage included, in advance. Single copies, 5 cents. The SEMI-WEEKLY HERALD is published every Wednesday and Saturday morning, at $2.50 a year, six months, $1.25, postage included. Postage outside the U. S. and Canada, extra.

The Tribune for once justly accuses the Herald of stealing its news, but under the circumstances we hope to be forgiven. The truth is, that we did not dare to assert our own authority that Allen G. Campbell had been defeated.

If anyone is anxious to own an elephant, now is the time to buy. They have to kill 30,000 elephants a year to supply England with ivory, and 70,000 annually to supply the rest of the world. It will thus be understood that elephants must soon become scarce and consequently expensive.

FORGOTTEN ARE fast learning to like the oleomargarine produced in this country. So rapidly is it growing in popular favor abroad that it threatens to supersede butter altogether among the poorer and middle classes. Last year the butter exports from New York were 31,000,000 pounds, while those of oleomargarine amounted to 20,000,000, the value of the latter being equal to half that of the butter.

IT WILL be another serious blunder for the democracy to undertake to kick up a row over the voting in New York. Frauds have undoubtedly been perpetrated, but it looks like pleading the baby act for democracy to cry because they did not cast as many votes as the opposition polled. The party has been guilty of blunders ever since 1874, and it owes its present defeat to a huge blunder—that of failing to renounce Tilden and Hendricks. It ought to consider well before it moves again, lest other mistakes are indulged in.

It was an unlucky day for the Rev. Kalloch when his ambition led him to aspire to the mayoralty of San Francisco. His troubles began long before the election, and have continued incessantly down to the present moment, with the fair prospect that they will cease some time in the distant future. His latest annoyance is a citation to show cause why he should not be punished for contempt for assaulting the grand jury in his sermon last Sunday. His brother officials chosen by the workingmen are also in for more annoyance and trouble at the hands of the law. The two years' experience of San Francisco with the workingmen's party has been enough to last the Pacific Coast metropolis a lifetime.

A DEBATE in Friday's HERALD mentioned a rumor that Associate Justices Hunt and Clifford, of the Supreme Court, were to give place to General Devens and Senator Edmunds. The hint is probably true. Mr. Garfield will doubtless have the pleasure, or honor, of appointing several gentlemen to the Supreme bench of the republic, it not of designating a majority of the membership of that tribunal. Justice Clifford, who was appointed in 1877, is 76 years of age, and stricken with paralysis. Justice Hunt is 70, and also the victim of paralysis, from which it is not likely he will recover. It is thought that Clifford and Hunt will both be compelled to retire, and it is feared that death will interfere should their wills or ambition urge them to hold on to the office. Justice Swaine is 72 years old, and Justice Strong is 72. Both have a right to retire, and their friends are urging them to do so and enjoy the ease and comfort to which their years entitle them. It is almost safe to assume that Garfield will appoint successors to the four justices named. The other justices are aged as follows: Bradley, 67; Miller, 63; Field, 63; and Harlan 63. Chief Justice Waite being 68. It will be seen that all, except Harlan, are well advanced in years. It will be remarkable if one or more of them do not die, retire or become disabled within the next year.

THE NEW YORK Hour, assuming a republican majority at the polls, gives "a word of advice to the south" as a guide to its future political action. That paper assumes too without the same justification it had for its first assumption, that the republicans party would be defeated in the "solid south" by an extraordinary pressure exercised by the dominant classes over the down-trodden people of another color. The article abounds with the same sophistry that has been the capital of Gen. Grant and most of the republican speakers. Now, while there is no proof of actual building, and it has not been generally claimed that such methods were resorted to in the recent canvass, it is undeniable that superior intelligence and wealth did exert an influence on the democratic side. But there was nothing in the pressure that was extraordinary. On the contrary, it was ordinary, and in actual fact and result it did not differ from a similar condition of things at the north. To assert that all men are free and equal at the ballot box anywhere in this country or in the world, is to maintain a beautiful beautiful in theory but most unpractical. It is on the "glittering generalities" of the declaration of independence which Rufus Choate charged upon that immortal document. Revolutionary France adopted from it the motto of "Liberty, Equality and Fraternity," and endeavored to enforce these propositions in their absolutely actual significance. The consequences were a total failure and such a complete reaction that the people bailed the empire as a deliverance from themselves. During the first years after "reconstruction" when for a time the white race was trodden under foot by the newly emancipated slaves, when these ignorant and brutal negroes had the control of the state governments, created debts upon the real estate of property holders which still press down upon industry and enterprise, for the gratification of their own desire to steal, when these drunken vandals held their orgies in the legislative halls, and established a general rule of terror, the newspapers which now maintain that "the republicans party is specially pledged to protect the colored people of the southern states in their political rights," said nothing about protecting the white people from robbery and slavery.

That party was organized to oppose the doctrine of "state rights." It opposes it still when the state in question is on the democratic side, but maintains it when a republican returning bond certifies to the election of its candidates. And now we have a threat of what Mr. Garfield may do: "If this cannot be accomplished by other means, the next republican administration will not hesitate to use the army of the United States for the purpose." If the army is to be used to protect every negro in his absolute right to vote without fear of his employer, we submit that it should also be deputed to enforce the rights of white people at the north. To give equal protection of course it must be largely increased. But never mind that. We are looking for liberty, and that is cheap at any price. Let us have an army of a million men, if need be. Let us have a detachment on every southern plantation to oblige the planter to employ negroes regardless of their politics, and let us have one in every manufacturing village of the north to force the mill owners to recognize the right of their employees to vote as they please.

The latter claims to have been used as a cat's paw. Miller has a record of arrests, including it is said, De la Hanty, his real name.

POLITICAL.

A Disgraceful Wall of Corruption in South Carolina from the Essence of Corruption.

Fixing The Next President's Course.

How The Next House Will Stand—The Awarding of Offices Commenced Already.

Etc., Etc., Etc.

Chicago, 5.—Inter-Ocean's Washington: Wade Hampton appears to have kept the pledge he made at the Cincinnati convention that South Carolina should give Hancock an overwhelming majority. In face of the fact that the republicans were so well organized that the leading democratic organ had repeatedly admitted that there was grave danger of carrying the state, and in the face of the fact that the republicans generally turned out to the polls, democratic managers have returned a majority for Hancock in every county in the state, with the single exception of E. A. Safford, where the blacks outnumber the whites about twelve to one, and the official count promises the republicans a majority of about 40,000. It was intended to return all five democratic candidates for congress as well as the republican majority. The probability is that if they will get their certificates sooner or later, though even after the frauds perpetrated by the democratic managers at the various polling places in Charleston District, there seems no doubt that Hancock, republican candidate, had a majority according to the first count.

Return from Virginia show that the contest between the republican and regular democratic election and conservative managers was very close, and some hope was entertained that Garfield might come in ahead when the whole state had been heard from. A gentleman here received the following dispatch this afternoon from Edmund Burke, United States district attorney, Virginia: "Virginia is in doubt. Half the state gives the democrats only 4,000 majority, with strong republican counterforce. The democrats are inclined to concede the state."

Washington, 5.—Secretary McPherson, of the republican congressional committee, today, claims that the next House will have 120 republican members, against a total opposition of 142.

There are many rumors that Mahoma, of Virginia, will act with the republicans, and thus to the Senate, in case California returns another republican, in consideration of having at his disposal the federal patronage of Virginia.

CLEAN HANDS, VERY.

The Pure Kelly Talks of Fraud—An Address Which is a Farce.

New York, 5.—At a meeting of the Tammany Hall general committee to-night, an address to the democracy of the country was read, claiming that Hancock's defeat was due to fraud, intimidation and the use of enormous sums of money by the republicans. The address concludes as follows: The rage and frenzy of the hour will pass away and the sober judgment of the American people will reassert its sway. Then the democratic party, with clean hands, on which and on which alone will be borne such the ark of our political covenant, can prevent itself once more for the subjugation of the people. Through their will yet again we will secure victory. One of the wisest men that ever lived and that none can aspire to be greater than those who are as pure as the driven snow.

More Railroad.

San Francisco, 5.—Portland dispatch. Col. Richardson, a leading spirit of the Utah and Northern, was in this city this week. He brings information which may be relied upon as a basis, that Jay Gould and his associates of the Union Pacific Railroad, have raised all the necessary funds and completed all arrangements for building a standard gauge railroad from Ogden, Utah, to Boise, Idaho Territory, a distance of about 250 miles. The narrow gauge road already built from Ogden to a point forty miles north, will be utilized by laying a third rail. The road will be completed within the next eighteen months. The proposed branch of the Oregon Railway & Navigation Lines to Baker City, Oregon, will be completed about the same time, and there will then remain only 100 miles to complete another transcontinental railway.

Hanged.

Louis Court House, Va., 5.—Mittell, who was executed to-day, having but one leg, walked to the scaffold with the aid of a crutch, and at 12:25 the trap was sprung. The fall was over five feet, and his struggles were brief. The body was buried in a field near by.

LAND LEAGUES.

Secondarily Leaders Inciting the Masses to Self-Destruction.

New York, 5.—Telegram's Dublin special: The prosecution of the leaders of the Land League are beginning to bear fruit in respect to disaffection and increased violence, as was evidenced at Westport yesterday. There was a meeting of the league at that place, at which Chairman John Lavelle said: "The people should now be more determined than ever in asserting their rights. The landlords of Ireland, England, Scotland and America will no doubt convince government by their prompt and patriotic action, that the cause of freedom, the banner of which is now raised in Ireland, will not be put down without a vigorous struggle."

The Land League in Loughran has issued an address concluding as follows: A solemn hour strikes upon the time. The very blood history of your long suffering country lies open before you. Approach it, men of Ireland! Write upon the manuscript page the imperishable word of freedom. And now Ireland! Meetings are now being held daily throughout the country. Twelve will be held on Sunday. Plans will be stated at Athlone, and Dillon at Killybeg, County Kerry. The organization shows the most energetic day.

Dublin, 5.—A policeman went to the office of the Land League to-day and detected that detectives were watching "Parnell." The address of the Land League to the people of Ireland will be put in circulation on Saturday and will also be sent to each of the 32 counties.

It declares that the agitation is thoroughly legal and peaceful and will be carried on peacefully until its object is attained. The address concludes by asking contributions for defense.

A demonstration against Parnell took place at Portlaoine yesterday. Four thousand Orangemen and conservatives were present. Maxwell, close conservative member of Parliament from Armagh County, presided.
